Twinkle twinkle, babies. It's your favorite "starchild" buzzin' among the stars with a little chitterchat...

Wow!! Beyoncé gets beaten up in Serbia?! Well, not exactly. While appearing in Belgrade, Serbia, a couple of her fans got a bit too carried away as she made her way through the crowd. There's a video showing her getting slapped in the face, and her hair was almost yanked from her head. (Well...the word "fan" IS short for "fanatic.") With her security detail walking behind her and not in a position to adequately shield her from being accosted by fans, the short grainy video shows Bey turning to face the fan, apparently shocked by the slap, and recoiling. That's when another fan on her left reaches out and grabs a big handful of weave. Still, all and all, she handled it like a pro, took the stage, thanked her fans and the performance went off without a hitch. That's showbiz, y'all!!

Moving on from Mrs. Carter to Mr. Carter, Jay-Z has relinquished his stake of the Brooklyn Nets in order to qualify for his new venture, sports representation—thus the creation of Roc Nation Sports. The hip hop mogul turned entrepreneur turned sports agent recently explained his decision to move on from the team: "Our newest endeavor is committed to building the brands of professional athletes as we have done for some of the today's top music artists," he explains. And according to NBA guidelines, agents cannot hold ownership stakes in teams. To date, Roc Nation Sports has one confirmed client—New York Yankees second baseman, Robinson Cano.

Since we're on the subject of sports, OH NO AL MICHAELS!!! Upon stopping at a DUI checkpoint in Santa Monica, police officers detected an odor of alcohol on the beloved sportscaster. When asked to pull over and given a field sobriety, he performed it poorly and placed under arrest. Within about 5 hours in jail, Al Michaels was released on his own recognizance. Our sources say he could not have been nicer throughout the ordeal. Well, at least he's a nice drunk! Just kidding...just kidding!!!

Another prominent person who's recently spent some time in jail is prophetess and televangelist Juanita Bynum. Since the incident of getting beaten up by her husband in the parking lot and all that publicity that followed, Juanita seems to have never bounced back. She lost her marriage, her show, and her empire. And she has been in continuous financial turmoil. Well, recently, that financial turmoil landed her in jail. Juanita lost a $125,000 judgment against a stage play promoter, who gave her an advance to star in a stage play - which she failed to participate in! The civil judgment clearly specified that Juanita was to make payments until the FULL $125K was paid off. Juanita, according to the court, failed to make those payments and failed to appear before the court. So she was picked up on what's called a "Civil Tapias Warrant" in Texas, and placed under arrest. Wow! Brings a whole new meaning of "laying hands on ya," doesn't it?

And since we're on the subject of folks who need prayer, three letters come to mind: D-M-X! Threatening to sue, DMX is furious over his sit-down with Iyanla Vanzant on her show "Iyanla: Fix My Life." During the chat Iyanla asked X about his rampant drug use and he didn't hold back — appearing unhinged...in other words, HIGH AS HELL!! But DMX says Iyanla pulled a fast one. She was supposed to ask him about his addiction to WOMEN... not drugs...and the dope questions were never cleared beforehand. Okay, like seecceeriously...WHO CARES about his addiction to women?! DUDE...YOU ARE A VOLATILE CRACK ADDICT!! WE WANT TO KNOW WHAT YOU ARE DOING ABOUT IT!! Just saying out loud what Iyanla was thinking...wait, NO...she actually said it. Anyway, we'll keep you posted on the developments.

It's been a tough time for Laurn Hill. In addition to making claims as to why she stopped paying taxes, the Grammy Award-winner is also reportedly being sued by her landlord for eviction. According to reports, the singer/rapper/actress' South Orange, NJ landlord has filed an eviction lawsuit in response to the her failing to pay rent last month. The documents revealed that Lauryn has been renting the mansion since 2009. The report comes on the heels of her April 22nd tax evasion sentencing, where she faces a maximum of one year in prison and $100,000 in fines for each count.

Finally, your favorite "StarBuzzer" talks about the singer Alicia Keys in upcoming edition of BRE (Black Radio Exclusive) Magazine. Being honored in the magazine as the Michael Jackson Entertainer of The Decade, a feature article is written by my good friend Carol O and yours truly has a quote in the article on Page 29. Be sure to check it out!!
